

State of New Mexico

Workers' Compensation Administration

New Mexico Workers' Compensation Administration (NMWCA)

EDI Claims Release 3.1 Information Update

Date: 12/16/2024

To All New Mexico Workers' Compensation Administration Insurers, Claims Administrators, and Self-Insured Employers

The New Mexico Workers' Compensation Administration (NMWCA) will soon be transitioning from the IAIABC EDI Claims Release 1 standard to the IAIABC EDI Claims Release 3.1 standard for electronic reporting of workers' compensation First Reports of Injury (FROI) and Subsequent Reports of Injury (SROI). The mandatory implementation is planned for November 7, 2025. Announcements will be sent once the EDI Website and EDI Claims R3.1 Requirements for NM become available. Additional information on the IAIABC EDI R3.1 transactions for FROI and SROI can be found online at the IAIABC website, <https://www.iaiaabc.org/>.

Electronic reporting using IAIABC Claims Release 3.1 will be required for all trading partners: insurers, self-insured employers, and claim administrators.

The NMWCA has contracted with Verisk, to manage their FROI and SROI EDI reporting. Verisk will also be administering registration of trading partners, training, testing, data collection and submission of EDI data to the NMWCA.

NM WCA will provide an enhanced EDI Website that is currently planned for end of January 2025, which will contain the following:

- Trading Partner Electronic Profile Registrations and Instructions to be completed by all Trading Partners
- Trading Partner Training Information
- Trading Partner Testing Documentation/Plan. (Note: For Trading Partners that will utilize a Vendor, the Vendor will perform the testing on your behalf)
- NM Claims Release 3.1 Implementation Guide and Requirement Tables
- EDI Vendors that may assist with EDI reporting
- Implementation Information that will provide additional support for the NM EDI Reporting Requirements
- Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) for EDI
- Helpful Web Links
- Announcements, etc.

If you have any questions, please contact the NMWCA EDI Support Team at nmwcaedi@verisk.com.

Thank you,
NMWCA EDI Support Team